POEM

Writing a story every time.

Written by -

Anurag Krishn

Being a writer every day.

Introduction:

Everybody in this world is a writer. They are the author of their life book. This poem emphasizes the responsibility of being a writer.

Example, I am a writer, artist (painter and sketch artist), martial artist, and also daily learner of some subjects (i.e… math, physics, etc…),

So, I am adding these topics in my life book.

Therefore, I am writer of my life.

Even a terrorist, thief, murderer is a writer of their life. So, be careful while writing your story.

Poem:

Working day and night,
Writing my story very quiet.
Got a life,
With sudden surprise.
Thinking who am I?
And why I used to cry.

Don’t know why am I?
Trying to survive, every time.
Doing the activity,
Found by my mind.

Sometime laugh,

Sometime cry,

Writing a story every time.

Does mistake,

But its fine.

Learning from mistakes,

Writing better story next time.

Keeps trying, and purifying.

But writing a story every time.

Once a sudden,
We realise about the running time.
We got a work,
Finding freedom,
Of our choice.
Writing a story every time.

We find it from,
Work of different kind.
Reading books,
Doing a mountain climb.

But the most pleasant
Of all,
Observing nature sky,
And the continuous tide,
After completing our life time.

Author: Anurag Krishn